

LONDON TO SPEAK
OFTEN ON WAY EAST,
IT IS ANNOUNCEDWill Make Addresses as Train
Stops in Five States

GETS MANY REQUESTS

Candidate to Make Address at West Middlesex On August 22nd

TOPEKA, Kans., Aug. 8.—Governor Alf M. Landon today revealed that in response to a deluge of requests for speeches, that he will make as many appearances as possible from the rear platform of his special train, when he takes to the road in the drive to overthrow the Roosevelt New Dealers from Washington.

Four-minute speeches where convenient will be the rule as the Republican Presidential nominee moves toward cities for major addresses, raking the Administration and presenting his substitute program.

His first invasion of the East, with major speeches at West Middlesex, Pa., and at Chautauqua and Buffalo, N. Y., is being arranged to enable a great many persons to see the G. O. P. standardbearer, heading to the Eastern battleground by one route and returning by another one.

Through Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania and New York Governor Landon's campaign train will wend its way. Tentative plans call for him to go to Estes Park, Colo., next Tuesday or Wednesday for a few days before heading for West Middlesex, where he speaks at three p. m., August 22.

The Chautauqua speech comes on the 24th and the one at Buffalo on the 26th. Later in the campaign, it was said, he will make another journey to the Eastern front, speaking at Boston and New York as well as at other places.

From the steady parade of callers at Mr. Landon's offices here it was learned enthusiasm for the Presidential nominee surpasses that of candidates for local offices; that Republican candidates are eager for the Governor to appear in their ballwicks. Republican leaders considered that a wholesome sign.

Governor Fitzgerald of Michigan who has no opposition in the Republican party for re-election, remarked that in Michigan Democratic candidates are not harping upon their support of President Roosevelt as they did in 1932. That is a significant development, the Governor said.

Governor Landon trimmed his visitors' list for today and tomorrow so as to work on the speeches he will make at West Middlesex, where he was born, and at Chautauqua.

Expectations were he would discuss the Roosevelt Administration's mounting debts in his address at West Middlesex, with an explanation of his views on taxation and economy.

Social security, relief for the needy, tariff-making by the President under the reciprocal tariff act and efficiency in administration—these were topics expected to be discussed by the G. O. P. nominee in his first tour of the East.

Friends of Governor Landon in the labor world here declared themselves indignant over what they claim to be misrepresentation of the Governor's attitude toward union labor by George L. Berry, Federal Co-ordinator for Industrial Co-operation, and John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, both of whom have cast their lot with Mr. Roosevelt and are leading a rebellion in the American Federation of Labor.

Preparations are being made for a counter-attack on the Berry-Lewis "smear campaign," it was said.

Whether Governor Landon will discuss the labor question further on his trip East was not revealed.

His position in principle was believed by his friends here to have been made plain in the Governor's speech accepting the Republican nomination and in his letter to Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate for the Presidency.

Former Bristol Man Shown
Here in Temple Film

A one-time resident of Bristol, known to many localities, will appear in the film featuring Shirley Temple at the Grand Theatre for the next three days, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. Michael Whalen (Shevlin), who served as manager of the local Woolworth 5 and 10c store for some time, takes one of the leads. Mr. Whalen is a native of Wilkes-Barre.

It's always an event when Shirley Temple comes to town, but according to advance reports, "The Poor Little Rich Girl," the tiny star's new Fox hit opening Sunday at the Grand Theatre, will be something in a way of a celebration, an epoch, a new milestone in entertainment.

For, definitely, the talented Temple miss is said to give the performance of her life in this new film and, to top it off, she's surrounded by a veritable gallery of Hollywood's brightest stars.

YOUNG REPUBLICANS

To Stampede New Dealers
And Keep State G. O. P.

FORM ORGANIZATIONS

HARRISBURG, Aug. 8.—The Young Republicans of Pennsylvania in the 67 counties—from Easton and Allentown to Warren and Grove City; from Philadelphia to Pittsburgh; from Chester on the Delaware to Erie on the Lake—are on the job this year as never before to stampede the New Dealers and keep the Keystone State in the Republican column.

Every mail brings Chariman John Y. Willis assurances of support from all parts of Pennsylvania.

Organizations are being formed in every county with clubs in all the larger cities and towns.

Right now chief interest centers in the visit of Governor Alf M. Landon to his birthplace in Middlesex, Mercer County. During that visit the candidate for President will make one of the most important speeches of his campaign. George Piddington of Sharon, head of the Young Republicans in Mercer County, with his committee is doing everything to make this event a success. Young Republican Clubs in all sections of the State will be represented.

John H. H. Morrow, chairman in Philadelphia, is a busy man these days. He reports clubs in all the wards.

Robert H. Braun, chairman of the Allegheny County Young Republican Clubs, is leaving no stones unturned in his effort to topple the Democrats, temporarily established in Pittsburgh. Center County has been reorganized with Henry Houser of Bellefonte as chairman. O. James Faxon of Clearfield County has things well in hand there, he reports.

Byron A. Baur has Young Republican activities in Erie County whirling at full speed. A recent blockade party renewed the interest of the youngsters and added cash to the campaign chest.

Willis E. Topper's Young Republicans in the populous Westmoreland County are going places, he writes from the Greensburg headquarters.

YOUR OWN MONEY

(The Commercial Bulletin)

In one of George Ade's fables he wrote of a photographer who told a man to think of money and look pleasant.

Thinking of money was expected to produce a pleased expression on the face of the man posing for his photograph, but the thought of money may bring memories that are far from pleasant and lead to an expression on the face of worry, disappointment, or anger.

When we think of money, it makes a lot of difference whether the money is paid to us or we pay it to somebody else. Also the question arises whether the transfer of money represents a profit or a loss to us. If there is a gain, we are glad; if a loss, we are sorry; if the loss is due to unwise or wasteful management by others, we are angry.

As citizens of a republic, we elect men to represent us in federal, state, and local governments. These men, or women, make the laws, determine methods of taxation, and authorize the spending of money raised by taxation. Like directors of a business corporation, men elected to legislative or executive political office are under obligation to serve the citizens whose representatives they are. Politicians in office are always inclined to be lavish in spending money from the government treasury, but during the last few years, with business conditions far below normal, it might be expected that government appropriations would be reduced. Exactly the opposite policy was taken by the men who spend the money we pay as taxes. City and state governments have been extravagant, and our federal government has squandered money at a rate unequalled by the government of any nation at any period in time of peace.

Wasteful spending of money by our government would not be quite so serious a matter if government income were sufficient to cover the expenditures, but receipts have been far below expenditures, and money has been borrowed to make up the enormous deficits from year to year. An idea of the magnitude of the deficit may be gleaned from the weekly bulletin of the American Institute of Finance. The bulletin says that "this country is operating on a deficit which is larger than that of any other three leading industrial nations combined."

When we learn that in the last fiscal year there was an increase in the national debt of over five billion dollars, it is easy to understand how our finances are out of balance more than the deficits of any other three nations combined.

It may not cause us any anxiety when we see a man squandering his own money. We say that a fool and his money are soon parted and give no more heed to the matter. Extravagance becomes of great importance to us when it is our money that is being thrown away. We may employ servants who come to us highly recommended, but when we see them ruining our property or setting fire to our home, we can not regard their actions with indifference.

As we recall the rapidly mounting government debt, and the enormous taxes that all of us must pay to discharge the debt with interest, we may not be induced to smile when told to think of money and look pleasant.

A very large number of citizens and voters seem to believe that when money is squandered by federal or local government it costs them nothing unless they pay an income tax. Increasing government debts and taxes mean little to them, as they believe the taxes are paid by the rich who can well afford to pay. They do not understand that indirectly everybody pays taxes by the higher cost of living due to taxation. Even the pauper supported by charity and the war veteran living on a pension are paying taxes, or having taxes paid for them in this indirect way.

As the voters become aware of the fact that it is their own money that is being squandered by government extravagance and mismanagement, and not merely the money of the millionaires, they will demand more efficiency and less waste by the men whom they elect to political office.

Easton Highway Improvement Association

C. GUENST, CHAIRMAN

Plans to organize the Old York Road Municipalities Association, to be composed of officials from the Old York Road section, have been completed and it is thought that the new organization will aid the already existing Philadelphia-Easton Highway Improvement Association organized for the purpose of aiding in widening and modernizing Old York Road from Philadelphia to Willow Grove and Easton Highway from Willow Grove to and beyond Easton.

Charles Guent, Abington Township Commissioner, has been elected chairman of the new group, Ralph Morgan, Cheltenham Township Commissioner, vice-chairman, and Clarence M. Ely, secretary of Upper Merion Township Commission, secretary and treasurer.

One of the first projects to be undertaken is the removal of the trolley tracks in Old York Road and its paving to a four-lane highway. Engineers have consulted on the project and resolutions have been passed approving the work.

A report is being made by George E. Hesselbacker, Cheltenham township engineer, and this will be sent to Governor Earle and Secretary of Highways Van Dyke in an effort to have the road placed on the 1937 spring calendar on the State Highway Department.

TRYING TO HAVE CANAL
PROPERLY MAINTAINEDLetters Reveal Attempts To Get Company To Explain
Its Purposes

CAUSES FURTHER DELAY

Efforts to have the Delaware Division Canal maintained have recently resulted in considerable correspondence between the officers of the company, the state and the officials of the Delaware Valley Protective Association.

This correspondence has been released for publication by the Delaware Valley Protective Association and is as follows:

Doylestown, July 27.
Del. Valley Protective Assn.,
Mr. William F. Taylor,
Lumberville, Penna.
Dear Mr. Taylor:

I quote from a letter just received from Honorable Grover C. Ladner, Deputy Attorney General, as follows: "This is to acknowledge your communication of July 15 re Delaware Division Canal Company. I have indicated to the Delaware Division Canal Company that I do not think their dependence upon the Act of May 17, 1901 can give them any comfort because in the last analysis it cannot be regarded as impairing any obligations imposed by the Commonwealth in its need of grant pursuant to the Act of 1868.

They have not given me a definite answer as to their intentions, but have asked me to be good enough to grant them additional time to make up their minds, in view of the fact that their general counsel is absent on vacation, as is the president of their company. They have assured me that they are in the process of making repairs so as to maintain at least four feet of water in the canal, which will prevent the canal from being a nuisance. I trust this position of the Commonwealth will have the approval of the Delaware Valley Protective Association, and I shall be glad to have you keep in touch with me concerning the progress.

Bristolian Thrilled By
"Pedro's" Screen Appearance

Pedro, the duck, that unusual little fellow who shuns water like a tramp, and owned by Miss Margaret Robinson, Cedar avenue, Croydon, has brought more fame to his home town through his capers. Imagine the surprise when a visitor from Bristol walked into a Los Angeles theatre, while touring the West Coast, and seeing "Croydon, Pa." as a sub-title flashed on the screen, announcing that a little white drake from that town was about to demonstrate many ways to avoid the water.

Pedro leaped into fame when a Courier reporter learned of his eccentric ways and sent the story out over the news wires. It was a short time before the movie cameramen arrived at Croydon to see Pedro. The drake was put through his stunts as the movie-camera clicked. Pedro went through his act like nobody's business and even made "Donald," that famous Walt Disney duck, look like a piker. The movie shows Pedro as Miss Robinson places him in a pool in the rear of the Robinson yard. Pedro scampers out of the water, up the bank quacking loudly in a furious fit of temper. . . he is also dowsed with water from a hose and again protests as only a land-lubber duck can. Finally he is shown waddling down the road, following his mistress, with a large group of youngsters in the rear.

The Los Angeles audience got a great kick out of the antics of Pedro, but not quite as big a thrill as the Bristol resident.

Wires.Hold News of Congressman's
Death From Mother

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 8.—News of the dramatic suicide of Marion A. Zioncheck, Seattle playboy Congressman, was withheld today from his mother, Mrs. Frances Zioncheck, critically ill here, for fear the shock might prove fatal.

The eccentric young legislator hurled himself out of an office building last night and dropped to death at the feet of his pretty bride of three months, the former Ruby Louise Nix, of Texarkana, Texas.

Only a few days ago, Mrs. Zioncheck, upon learning her son did not plan to run for re-election because he did not want to "worry about the outcome," insisted he file candidacy papers.

He made a hurried trip to the state capital at Olympia and signed, then he hurried back to Seattle to announce "Now I'll show what's what."

Last night shortly before six, the young representative went into his campaign offices in the Arctic Building. Fifteen minutes later he plunged coatless and hatless through an open window as his brother-in-law made a frantic effort to stop him. His wife, who was sitting in an automobile waiting for her husband, screamed when she saw him fall.

QUAKERTOWN SURVEYED
BY FIRE UNDERWRITERSReport Given Indicates That Several Changes Would Be Advisable

PUMPERS "LIMITED"

QUAKERTOWN, Aug. 8.—A survey and inspection of Quakertown by the Middle Department of Rating Association, suburban division of the Fire Underwriters, indicates that several changes would be advisable.

The water supply of the town was reported as good. Several mains connecting former dead-end supplies have improved the distribution system, according to the findings. Although there are still some small points of weakness the system on the whole was found to show a definite material improvement.

The survey of the fire department, however, revealed that this department has not kept pace with the improvement in water. The two pumpers were both found to be of a limited capacity. Hose supply was also found to be considerably under the standard. The fire alarm service was found to be fairly well handled.

Building law restrictions were found to be somewhat weak in structure. In regard to electricity it was found that there is virtually no inspection service on electrical installations.

As a result of these conditions several recommendations were offered, including:

Provide a 45-foot service ladder truck, fully equipped with standard tools and appliances, and furnished with a pump of not less than 500 gallons per minute, capacity of carrying 700 feet of 2½-inch hose.

Second: Adopt by ordinance, the provision that all installations of electric light and power be made in accordance with the current edition of the National Electrical Code; service lines to be connected only after inspection and approval by the Middle Department Rating Association.

It was also pointed out in the report that aside from the insurance viewpoint, these suggested improvements are also of considerable importance to the life hazard of the citizens of Quakertown.

Regular use of the Courier Classified column is economical and profitable.

FASHION PARADE

By ORRY-KELLY
(Famous Hollywood Stylist Writing For International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD — (INS) — Thingamabobs . . .

Ever notice that when skirts get shorter, belts get narrower? No particular reason why . . . but it's a fact that now that daytime skirts are beginning to hover around the knees again, at least fourteen to sixteen inches from the floor we're also beginning to see little narrow leather belts, in gay colors but often considerably less than an inch in width. I saw Merle Oberon, during the week, in a white shirtmaker sports dress with narrow green belt and matching Ascot scarf. And Anita Louise, who just dropped in for a fitting for her next picture, "Green Light," was wearing navy blue tailored pajamas, with tuck-in blouse, high-cut trousers with the same narrow green leather belt, and other matched-up accessories including a green ribbon in her long-bobbed yellow hair, green shoes, and a vivid bandana, caught into a ring, in green and yellow silk.

Everyone, by the way, who has read the Lloyd C. Douglas book, will be watching with interest to see the way it's transferred to the screen. For my own end, the costuming, I am keeping Anita's clothes definitely "down to earth" . . . shunning the theatrical, and making them wearable, practical, and in the best of taste. This popular, wholesome actress herself (perfect choice, say I, for the lovely heroine), particularly likes her new coat of rose-beige, nubby woolen, styled with a wide fabric belt, high collar, white Ascot scarf, and those long, cape-like sleeves that both of us believe will be a favored vogue for fall.

Patricia Ellis, playing the role of a clerk in the music department of a large store in "Let's Pretend," also has a whole wardrobe of practical clothes, designed by Milo Anderson, that will be of interest to the business girl. His new form of coat is especially wearable . . . employing a sleeveless navy coat with revers that keep on going around the back to give a bolero effect, over a lighter silk dress that has an Ascot-tied neckline widening down the front to make the panelled front and hooking in the back. I like, too, his office frock of lighter-than-navy silk and wool, with the white pique collar that zips off, for easier laundering, and the dressmaking detail all accented by white sail-stitching.

Still another new idea is to be found in Jane Bryan's fall afternoon frock for "The Case of the Caretaker's Cat" . . . pin-dotted taffeta, with sunburst pleating for front fullness, high Empire waistline, white pique bow at the wing collar, and unusual white pique epaulets set in to make the tops of the short sleeves.

Yes—we can look forward to many new and interesting details to enliven frocks for fall . . . and so far, from the point of view of the business girl . . . the styles seem devised for her special benefit.

RADIOS, PAPERS, SONGS AND DANCES, ON THE MARCH OF TIME ADVANCES!

"Dictators, dictators, two for a penny!" They're getting quite the common thing—Iron-fisted men of action, Hear the "Heil Hitlers" ring! Mussolini holds his country In a Julius Caesar grip. Now the Greeks, led by their king, Form a new dictatorship.

Still the pivotal news center Spain struggles on in civil strife, All the miseries of warfare In that lovely land are rife. England sees the handwriting Upon the International wall—"Hands off," she says to France and Russia, "Lest this fight embroil us all!"

Ethiopian warriors battle, Not so soon does courage tire; Will she be the thorny blossom In Il Duce's new empire? A sort of Ireland, restless, sad, Once the thorn in England's side—Remembering, passing on rebellion, To her sons, in stubborn pride!

The political field is very still, The hush that precedes rhetorical storm—The criticisms, jokes, innuendoes, As yet grow only luke-warm! Come on, F. R., quit your "testing", Let lesser men be fish-catching, Give us something more to chew on, Other folks are vote-snatching!

Whatever our politics or notions, Our big ideas on "dole" or "taxing", It must be said, and so we say it, F. R. makes friends when he's relaxing. The speech to Canada's Quebec Was splendid in its simple grace—Nice, such wise understanding, To folks of different speech and race.

The labor union fight looks serious, We wonder what the end will be? Lewis leads his insurgent unions, Looks like a serious split to me. Some would organize by craft, Some by industrial groups, they tell—One way or another, just at present, It's One Big A. F. of 'Em!

In Hollywood, two parents struggle For one small, innocent four-year-old, Diaries and old confessions Dragged forth, defiantly and bold. Poor little rich girl—mother and dad Throwing spit-balls at each other, Will she someday read the record, "This was my father! This my mother!"

After the heat, the weary heat, Cruel to the crops, and men, Comes the cool, sweet evening, And comfort and peace again. So we join with the little children, "Thank God for the gentle rain!"

ODD FELLOWS CUT DOWN HIBERNIAN LEAD

The Odd Fellows whittled the lead of the Hibernians in the second-half race of the Bristol Twilight League by registering a 10-2 victory over the Jefferson A. C. last night on the Landreth ball diamond.

Again it was the arm and bat of Harry Minster that gave the Odds the triumph. Minster's hooks had the Mules missing all night with only six safe blows coming off his delivery. He fanned seven. With the stick, Harry had a double and two singles. He drove in two runs and scored another.

The Odd Fellows pushed over at least one run every frame. One tally was manufactured in the first, two in the second and third, another in the fourth, with a trio in the fifth and the final marker in the seventh. The Jeffersonians took advantage of a slight spell of wildness by Minster, plus an error by Benny Praul, to count their only runs in the fourth.

BRISTOL TENNIS PLAYER TO BATTLE FOR CROWN

TRENTON, N. J., Aug. 8.—With the 1935 champion relegated to the sidelines, Steve Kramer, bronzed south-paw from Villa Park, and Herb Lawrence, of Bristol, will battle it out this afternoon on the Cadwalader Park courts for the tennis singles supremacy of Trenton.

The experts are picking Lawrence to snatch up the crown that was rather rudely toppled from the brow of his fellow-townsmen, Nelson Green, by Kramer in the quarter-final round. Of course, the experts have been wrong in the past, and it would come as no surprise at all to the folks out in Villa Park if Steve should walk off with the laurels.

Lawrence has played brilliant and steady tennis in winning his way to the final round. A check of his record reveals that he lost only one set on his march to the final test. He has a well-rounded game that is at its best when the heat is on. As a matter of fact, Lawrence's game is built on power and steadiness, with years of tournament experience to bolster a repertoire of stylish and effective strokes. Against Bob Boyd in the semi-final round earlier in the week, Lawrence demonstrated that he will not be an easy individual to eliminate in the final title chase.

However, Herb is meeting an opponent today who lacks little to become a champion in the class of tennis that is played in Trenton's annual tournament. Kramer has not the power or grace of Lawrence, but he is faster afoot, has an abundance of cunning and courage and likes nothing better than to enter a match as the underdog.

Another factor in Kramer's favor is his portside play. It is quite a problem to stack up against a left-handed player who can make the ball do funny tricks after playing against right-handed netmen most of the season. Steve has a hop on his service that jumps like a tipsy kangaroo.

If Kramer attempts to match Lawrence's power today, he certainly will be defeated, but if Lawrence attempts to outsteady Steve, it is likely that the net title will go to Villa Park this year. Hitting shots at Kramer is like bouncing a ball against a wall—it always comes back and the wall never gets tired.

Sizing up today's match, it looks like a real battle, with little to choose between the pair. The experts pick Lawrence, but if they have any money, they can get it covered out where Steve is Bill Tilden to the boys.

RIVERSIDE A. C. TO PLAY REVAMPED BRISTOL A. A.

One of the most colorful attractions in Jersey, the Riverside A. C., will come to Leedom's field tomorrow afternoon to cross bats with Johnny Mulholland's revamped Bristol A. A. team. The largest crowd of the season is expected to jam the local ball field to witness the team composed of players of the Bristol Twilight League battle with the Jerseyites of the Burlington County League.

The Riverside team is having a wonderful season, scoring wins over Riverton, Burlington Spartans, Burlington A. A. and Palmyra. They have made every team in the Burlington County League bow to them with the exception of the fast R. D. Wood team.

Manager Mulholland is also arranging to have several players of the Hulmeville team to fill in a few weak spots in his line-up. If he is successful in getting these, the sport fans of this locality will see a much better and improved A. A. nine.

Game is scheduled to begin at three o'clock, sharp. There will also be a reduction in the grand stand seats.

ODDS AND ENDS FROM SPORTS FIELD

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—(INS)—When Dizzy Dean said last Spring that he and Daffy would win 50 games for the Cardinals, he meant 30 for himself and 20 for Daffy, he explained. It looks now as though Dizzy will have to account for about 45 of them. Daffy's sore arm is the reason.

Leon Ketchell, the new super-heavyweight from Poland, who stands 7 feet, 2½ inches, steps over the top rope of the ring, and off the ring platform to the ground without using a ladder. But can he fight? Joe Louis is training in secret for his bout August 18 with Jack Sharkey. What effect that will have on a right hand that comes smacking against the chin has not been explained. This is presuming that Sharkey will pitch a few.

Add best cracks of the year: "Send home more officials and fewer athletes and we'll get along much better." —Mrs. Eleanor Holm Jarrett. The Detroit Tigers have decided to accept all banquet invitations in the future. Only six of them attended a recent automobile dealers' banquet and only the six were given automobiles. If this is a young man's world explain Jim Braddock as champion, Max Schmeling as challenger and Jack Sharkey as a leading contender. Joe Louis seems out of place in there.

And Tony Conzoneri is no spring chicken, but still a pretty fair fighter. They say bald-headed old Marcel Thiel of France, who holds a share of the middleweight title, is still as good as ever. To complete the heavyweight bouquet, Jack Renault, Knute Hansen and a few more of those old gents should start a comeback. Yes, maybe Dempsey, too, considering that he knocked out Sharkey. Tunney also belongs in there. He beat Dempsey twice.

Call On Labor To Aid Leftist Government, Spain

By Thomas A. Loayza (I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)
MADRID, Aug. 8.—(INS)—Labor was called upon today to supply every available man to fight for the Leftist government's cause as word reached the capital that Gen. Francisco Franco's Rebel army was again on the move northward.

Appealing to all members to take up arms, the National Labor Confederation at Valencia announced it was raising a column of 10,000 warriors to march for the relief of Madrid.

ubilation here over the Jaime Prieto's successful raid on the Rebel port of Algeciras in the south was largely offset by the painful realization that Franco had already succeeded in landing thousands of foreign legionnaires, and still has at least one transport ship and many passenger-carrying airplanes in which to ferry more.

His legions have resumed their drive from Cordova, according to information here.

The ministry of the interior announced today that a government column near Sigüenza, northeast of Guadalajara, routed a column of insurgents, killing forty, taking many prisoners and capturing a large quantity of arms and ammunition.

Emergency Financing Plan Is Aid To Needy

HARRISBURG, Aug. 8.—(INS)—Drafting of an emergency financing plan for unemployment relief through the middle of September today averted a potential breakdown of State aid to Pennsylvania's half-million needy.

The breakdown was threatened for a time despite the final enactment of a $45,000,000 tax program during the special session of the Legislature. Actual benefits of that program for relief purposes, predicated upon the sale of tax anticipation notes, would not have become available in the normal course of events until next month.

TWO WEEKS WITH PAY

VACATION TIME is here. The family car is piled high with baggage and you're off for two weeks . . . to the seashore, the mountains, the lakes . . . or maybe you'll play gipsy and wander the world with a road-map.

But no matter what you do, or where you go, you'll need to stock up before you leave. There'll be many things to buy—sunburn lotion, bathing caps, a traveling bag, a new tire. There'll be many things to plan—places to see, and places to stop.

Read the advertisements first—the travel advertisements which mention hotels and comfortable places to eat and sleep. Read the advertisements of Vacation Specials—equipment that you must have if you're going to enjoy every day away.

It's surprising what a help the advertisements are. They tell you of savings . . . they post you on the newest improvements . . . they remind you of things you might have forgotten . . . and they make your two weeks with pay, pay MORE!
